Rental Equipment Operation Info.

A. Hand Brakes: Your bike is equipped with a front and rear hand brake. To engage your rear brake, simply squeeze the right brake lever. to engage your front brake, squeeze the left brake lever. Take note, that over-pressuring the front brake may result in lock-up of the front wheel. I understand that a front wheel lock-up may send the bike into a front flip or skidding crash. Also, when the handlebars are turned all the way around clockwise or counterclockwise, this may result in a front and rear wheel lock-up. So in short, make sure if the equipment has fallen over, before you ride the rental bike, check the front and rear brakes and make a visual check of the brake cables. Use the rear brake as primary means of slowing the bike down in a controlled manner. If your bike does not have hand brakes, it will have foot actuated brakes. To apply the foot brake, gently pedal backwards and apply enough pressure to slow the bike down eventually bringing it to a stop.

B. Shifting Grears: Your bike may also be equipped with one or two shifters, located on the right and left sides of your handlebars. On our high performance road bikes, they are intergrated into the brake levers as a brake/shifter combo. The right shifter controls the rear derailleur(gears). Shifting the rear gears results in small incremental changes in your gear ratio and is used more often than the front derailleur. The front derailleur is controlled by the left shifter and makes much larger changes in the gear ratio than the rear derailleur.

C. Pedals: Your pedals may be equipped with toe clips(straps) or clip in pedals(clipless). Clipless pedals are used to increase power transfer to the bike and require special shoes. Toe clips are designed to cinch the foot to the pedal and can be worn as loose or as tight as you prefer. Please understand that a toe clip strap requires loosing before the foot can be removed, thus anticipating your stop as your shoe needs to be disconnected from the pedal. Island Bike Company will provide any pedal instruction.

D. Wheels: Your bike may be equipped with quick releases for both front and back wheels. The quick release allows you to remove the wheels. Make sure all quick releases are tight before using said rental bicycle.

E. Seat: The bike will be equipped with a proper seat for the bike model. The seat height adjustment is adjusted by a quick release, which requires no additional tool. In the event that your bike does not have a quick release, it will need an allen wrench to adjust. Island Bike Company will adjust all rental bicyles upon request at the time of pick up or delivery to island location. No tools will be loaned out, therefore, you must ask a Island Bike Company agent to adjust the seat.
